APRIL FOOLS AT IT AGAIN AT THE STONE TOLAN HOUSE: LANDMARK SOCIETY HOSTS ANNUAL EVENT

Hunt on April 4 combines history and fun

ROCHESTER, NY March 22, 2015 — The April Fools have been at it again at the historic Stone-Tolan House, one of Rochester’s most cherished 19th century historic sites. The oldest site in the county is littered with things that don’t belong in a 210 year old tavern and farmhouse – flip flops, Jell-O, even a lava lamp! The Landmark Society needs your help to find everything!

Celebrate the magic of April Fools when The Landmark Society of Western New York presents its fifth annual April Fools Tour at the Stone-Tolan Historic Site, 2370 East Avenue, Rochester, on Saturday, April 4. “Team up with friends and family to please help us discover what the ‘April Fools’ have done at Stone-Tolan,” said Cindy Boyer, Landmark Society Director of Public Programs. There will be prizes!

The tour will be open from noon to 4 p.m. Admission is $5 per adult. For this event, children up to age 16 are welcome free of charge (no fooling!). For more information, call (585) 546-7029, extension 11 or visit the Landmark Society website at www.landmarksociety.org

The April Fools Tour will take place on this one day only. Then museum staff will return the museum into its appropriate, historically correct settings in time for the spring school tours!
